Audacity breaks through barriers with their own way of approaching Business Consultancy. The company proves itself successfully with her methods and experienced consultants. The name stands for the courage to challenge the conventional. Audacity is able to simplify complex matters for the long term. Using common sense and a pragmatic approach we bring issues to the desired level.

The core of our organization is with our employees. Our team works closely from experience, dedication and enthusiasm. In order to guarantee high level quality services we work with specialists. This way we are able to create overview and unity with broad and thorough knowledge.

The ample character of the term Business Consultancy is often misunderstood. With indistinct terms the chance of wrong expectations increases. Audacity is clear within her Business Consultancy partner definition. We operate where ICT and Business come together. Our independency enables us to advise the best possible solution for you as our customer.

With our five customer-focused services we advise and support our customers in projects.

- To present and create vision on possibilities
- To guide or customers towards making the right choices
- To review results and possibilities towards your regulations
- To deliver high level support in processes, procedures and management
- To (help) develop a strategy (ICT and Business)

Our customers ask our assistance in challenging and important matters, such as:

- Projects of change for business as well as ICT
- Improvement of competitive edge with IT
- Development of long term relationships between their business and IT
- Decisions towards outsourcing, management, applications & suppliers
- Reducing IT costs and unnecessary complexity
- Benchmarking IT performance towards business demand
- Business Information planning and management

We deliver our services in all branches using generic models and knowledge to create optimization or change.
